

ABSTRACT

A process for producing a homogeneous type solid catalyst component or a homogeneous type solid catalyst comprising a step 5 for removing a fine-powdery component and/or a shapeless component utilizing a difference between their sedimentation velocities of the catalyst component or the catalyst in a solvent.